Notice

Dear Appomattox County Businessmen,
It has come to my attention that some businesses located within the County are using the county owned containers to dispose of business related solid waste.
The Appomattox County solid waste collection system was not designed for, nor was it intended to be utilized by businesses. Businesses will either have to hire the services of a private hauler or transport their own solid waste to the County landfill.
Section 3 paragraph b-1 of the Appomattox Solid Waste Disposal Ordinance specifies that these containers - - "shall be provided by the County Government for the disposal of household garbage only and for the expressed use of County residents".
In order for this collection system to remain an efficient and reliable service to the rural Appomattox County residents, the Appomattox County Solid Waste Ordinance will have to be enforced.
Thank you,
William S. Slagle,
Landfill Administrator

The beef cattle industry is depressed, but there are some things you can do about it!

Last fall 47% of all feeder calves selling in Virginia graded fancy or choice. These are the calves that are heaviest and higher grading - these bring more money.

In the first sale at Lynchburg, only 37% graded fancy or choice. If that sale had been just average with other cattle in Virginia our cattle would have been worth an additional $4041.

In the second sale only 23% graded fancy and choice. 26% of the steers were in the top grade and only 17% of the heifers were in top group.

Again if these cattle had been average for the state - the cattle would have been worth an additonal $9076.

We could ask who wants to be average but with our 1974 record, that's the least we can hope for.

There are a lot of factors that contribute to this situation - management, kind of cows in herd - the sire you are using.

The easiest place to start is with an analysis of your herd. What percent of your cattle graded fancy and choice? The sire may be the place to start.

In the bulls that came off feed test at Red House last Tuesday -

34 had yearling weights of 1,000 pounds or more. This is probably the best set of bulls ever tested in Virginia. This could also be the year for you to pick up a high gaining bull for your herd.

In a letter announcing the commendation, Mr. Edward C. GOOD NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

SCRATCH COOKING CAN SAVE

A few years ago, it looked like scratch cooking was becoming a thing of the past. But with today's rising food prices, all of us are being forced to re-evaluate our cooking practices as well as our grocery shopping practices.

A prime example of this is the increase in home bread making. The taste of homemade bread has been a favorite of many for years. But the price of a loaf of bread has been so low, that usually breadbaking wasn't practical for many homemakers.

The average retail cost of the popular size 22-ounce loaf of bread in 1972 was 33 cents. Today, that same loaf goes for as high as 60 cents in major metropolitan areas.

At current flour retail prices of 16.6 to 19 cents a pound, you can make a one-pound loaf of white bread at home for 20 to 24 cents. And this figure includes fuel prices for baking as well as all ingredients.

Naturally, ingredient costs are going up for the home baker, just like they are for commercial bakeries. But one of the big factors in the rising cost of bread is distribution costs. Eliminating this cost is what allows the home baker to enjoy a real savings.

Variety breads such as whole grain, raisin, and other combination breads sell for as high as 85 to 90 cents a loaf. Although ingredient costs are slightly higher, the home baker can realize an even greater cost saving here than with regular white bread.

However - the wise shopper knows that total scratch cooking is not always the most economical. For example, just sugar and shortening for a scratch cake will cost more than a boxed cake mix.

In addition to the cost savings, cake mixes have been improved so much over the years that it's hard to tell them from "scratch." And with all the recipes available for adding ingredients like pudding to these mixes, we can serve a wide variety of desserts at a relatively low cost.

With the price of cookies going as high as 85 to 90 cents a package, homemade cookies can be a bargain. A batch of homemade sugar cookies will cost you 70 to 75 cents to make. But you get 4 dozen cookies as opposed to the 2 dozen or less you get in a package at the store.

While you're at it, make several batches of your family's favorites. Cookies freeze beautifully and they thaw in no time.

One of the big reasons that homemakers have gone away from "scratch" baking is the time involved. More and more women now work outside the home as well as keeping things running smoothly in the home. Baking "homemade goodies" affords an excellent opportunity for family togetherness. Let the children or grandchildren help. They can assembly ingredients, drop cookies, grease pans, wash and dry dishes. This is the way they learn and become interested in homemaking.

Let your family lend a helping hand as you turn to "scratch" cooking to save on your family budget.
